BRITISH SMASH THE GERMAN LINE ALONG FRONT OF SIX MILES

Capture Three Towns and Two Woods and Gain Command of Approaches to Bapaume

FRENCH ALSO MAKE GAINS

British Advance on Northern End of the Line Was for a Distance of Two Miles

BULGAR POSITIONS TAKEN

Italians Have Begun a New Drive Towards City of Trieste

Smashing the German line on a front of six miles north of the Somme in France, the British forces have made probably the most notable advance since the Anglo-French offensive began July 1.

Three towns, two woods and the possession of nearly all the high ground between Combles and the Pozieres-Bapaume road fell to the British. Not only did the Germans lose these points but the British drive imperils the Combles and Thiepval positions, at either end of the British front. The gaining of the high ground north of Combles gives the British command of the approaches to Bapaume.

Advance of Two Miles.

The advance on the northern end of the front was for a distance of two miles. Couceleite, east of Thiepval and north of the Pozieres-Bapaume road, and Martinpuich, south of the road, fell into the hands of General Haig's men.

Further south they took Fleres and the Highwood, making secure their possession of Ginchy. The Bouleux, north of Combles, also was lost by the Germans.

Germans Fought Stubbornly.

The Germans, under Crown Prince Rupprech of Bavaria, fought stubbornly to hold their ground, London says, and the fighting was severe all along the line. More than 2,300 prisoners were taken by the British.

Aiding the British in the encirclement of Combles, the French have taken additional trenches north of LePriez farm. South of the river three German trenches near Berny-En-Santerre were taken by the French, who also captured 200 prisoners. Berlin claims the repulse of British attacks southeast of Thiepval and of French efforts between Rancourt and the Somme. The official statement admits the loss of LePriez farm, west of Rancourt.

In northern Macedonia the British, French and Serbian armies have gained additional successes, breaking down the Bulgarian defense in the center and on the left wing.

French troops took Bulgarian positions a half mile deep on a fornt of one mile. West of Lake Ostrovo the Serbians captured Malkanidze. The British attacked west of the Vardar and also gained ground.

Unofficially, it is reported the Bulgarians retreated 12 miles in front of the Entente rush and Athens reports the abandonment of Kastoria by the Bulgarians. Berlin says Entente attacks in the Moglenica sector and east of the Vardar were repulsed.

New Italian Drive.

The Italians have begun a new drive towards Trieste. The lines of the Austrian entrenchment east of the Valon have been taken, Rome reports, together with more than 2,100 prisoners. Vienna, while admitting Italian successes on the Isonzo front, declares the first assault is looked upon as a failure.

In the Dobrudja region of Rumania, Bucharest admits that the Russian and Rumanian troops are retiring northward before the advance of the forces of the Central Powers. Violent fighting is in progress in this region. In Transylvania, however, the Rumanian forces are continuing progress and have reached the Aluta river, northwest of Kronstadt.

There has been no change in the situation on the Eastern front from the Carpathians to Riga.

FRENCH DRAW CLOSER TO THE VILLAGE OF COMBLES

Paris, Sept. 15.—North of the Somme the French forces today took a system of trenches 500 meters deep from the Germans north of the LePriez farm, thus, with the aid of the British, rendering the encirclement of the town of Combles closer, says the war office communication issued today.

It is added that near Berny-En-Santerre, south of the Somme, three German trenches and 200 prisoners, five of them officers, were captured. Successful aviation operations were also carried out on the Somme front.

EMPRESS VICTORIA GOES ON VISIT TO EASTERN FRONT

London, Sept. 15.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Amsterdam says:

"German newspapers announce that Empress Augusta Victoria has been summoned to the eastern headquarters by Emperor William and passed through Breslau yesterday on the journey from Berlin. It will be her first visit to the eastern front."

AMERICAN EXPORTS WILL BE STOPPED

REFUSE FURTHER LICENSES

Assurances Must Be Given of Innocent Destination of Cargoes From the United States to Scandinavian Ports.

London, Sept. 14 (delayed).—The plan of rationing the neutral countries of Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Holland, under which no further licenses will be granted for the present to British exporters, has been extended to apply to the United States by the expedients of refusing to allow the Netherlands Overseas Trust to accept further American shipments destined for these ing to grant letters of assurance for American shipments destired for these countries. In consequence American shipments for Holland will be stopped absolutely, while the regular transportation companies trading between the United States and Scandinavia will not take cargoes without assurances of thei rinnocent destination by the authorities.

LORD CECIL EXPLAINS THE RECENT BRITISH ORDERS

London, Sept. 15.—Lord Robert Cecil, minister of war trade, today explained the recent orders of the British government refusing to allow Holland to accept further consignments of Americans goods and refusing letters of assurance that American shipments would reach Scandinavia. He said the orders applied only to certain prohibited articles and not to trade in general.

Great Britain has forbidden the export of various articles to European neutrals on the ground that they have already received in the first seven months of this year more than an ordinary year's supply. Lord Robert said it was not logical to forbid such exports from Great Britain and to permit them from America and other neutral sources.

Lord Robert explained that one neutral nation, taking normally 18,000 tons of coffee, in seven months of this year already had imported 50,000 tons so all furthers imports of coffee to that country are looked upon as likely to reach an enemy destination. The list of prohibited articles, he said, varies with different countries, according to what they already had imported, all allowances being made for imports formerly made to German ports.

NO OFFICIAL REPORT YET RECEIVED IN WASHINGTON

Washington, Sept. 12.—In the absence of information detailing what commodities are affected by the new British restrictions on American trade with Holland and the Scandinavian countries, officials here are uncertain just how heavily American exporters will suffer. Steps to secure this information already had been taken tonight and it was indicated that should any sweeping extension of restrictive measures be revealed it would be regarded as a serious development in the controversy over the legality of allied blockade methods.

The East-side delegation goes with the view of emphasizing the importance of the new child labor law. The occasion, it was said, will be non-political, as Republicans joined Democrats in passing the Child Labor bill.

KING CONSTANTINE TALKS OF THE WAR

Says Greece Will Join Allies When She Sees a Definite and Certain Advantage

NOT BOUND BY ANY PLEDGE

Admits That the Presence of Bulgarians in Macedonia and Rumania's Entrance Will Complicate the Situation.

New York, Sept. 15.—On September 1 the staff correspondent of the Associated Press obtained an interview with King Constantine of Greece that follows. It is impossible to say which of the censorships through which it passed held the dispatch at the time. Various reports concerning the attitude of Greece and King Constantine were afloat in the first days of the present month, but even London received no official dispatches for several days. The interview was given about the time the Entente fleet was taking possession of Piraeus, the port of Athens, and revolutionary outbreaks were reported taking place in Macedonia.

Tatoi, Greece, Sept. 1, (via Paris, Sept. 15).—King Constantine received the correspondent of the Associated Press in his summer palace here just previous to a visit from the British minister at Athens. The king spoke of the present situation with the utmost frankness, although refusing to be directly quoted. He said that Greece is ready to join the Entente Allies whenever she could see her definite and certain advantage in so doing.

The king expressed indignation that it could be thought by anyone, much less published, that he is bound by any pledge to any one not to make war or that he has been moved in his course hitherto by any reason save those he conceived to be for the greatest good of his country. He declared that the situation up to the Bulgarian invasion of Greek Macedonia and Rumania's entry into the war had not revealed with sufficient certainty the advantage to be gained by Greece to compensate for the risks and undedeniable cost in lives and property bound to follow Greek participation in the war.

King Constantine referred with particular feeling to the fate almost certain to overtake more than a million Greeks living in Asia Minor and Thrace in the event of Greece finding herself engaged in hostilities with Turkey.

Quite frankly the king admitted that the presence of Bulgarians in Macedonia and Rumania's entry into the war would greatly complicate the situation, constituting a new element which might easily alter the premises upon which the policy of Greece hitherto has been dazed. The king declared that the new elements had to be duly considered.

The king received the correspondent while lying on a sofa in a darkened room. Physicians and nurses are still in attendance upon him, on account of the fever and continual irritation of the wound which keeps the king confined to his room and in a state of constant physical annoyance when not in actual pain.

CELEBRATE MEXICAN INDEPENDENCE TODAY

Memorable Occasion Ushered in by Tolling of Ancient Bell

Custom Has Been Observed Ever Since Mexico Freed Herself From Spain. People Throughout Country to Take Part.

Nuevo Laredo, Mex., Sept. 15.—With the toll at midnight in Mexico City of the ancient bell that once swung in the little chapel of Padre Miguel Hidalgo, at Dolores, celebration of Mexico's Independence Day—September 16—began throughout the county, although without the pomp and splendor of the festivities in years before the country's prolonged civil strife. The sounding of the bell is in commemoration of the night of September 15, 1810, when Senor Don Miguel Hidalgo, priest of the parish of Dolores, raised the banner of revolt against the Spanish, and accompanied by a few followers, commenced the march which was to arouse the entire country against Spain.

This exercise has been the signal in the past for the chief executives of the country, standing from a balcony of the National Palace, to give the "grito" or war-cry of Padre Hidalgo, "Viva Mexico! Viva la Independencial," followed by the roar of the multitude.

This custom has been observed since Mexico attained her independence from Spain, with the exception of the years of the Hapsburg usurpation. Since the inception of the revolutions in 1910, a century after the revolt of Hidalgo and his followers, there have been fewer celebrations of the day. During the Huerta regime, the celebration in Mexico City approached those of former periods in dignity and pomp, although other cities were lacking in enthusiasm. The banner which Hidalgo bore, emblazoned with the portrait of Our Lady of Guadaloupe, the patroness saint of Mexico, was carried through the streets at the head of the procession. This of itself was sufficient to stir the religious fervor of the Mexicans.

CONSTABULARY FOR BORDER SUGGESTED

Would be Similar to Rurales of the Diaz Regime and be Maintained by Mexico

MEXICAN MEMBERS' PLAN?

American Conferees Have Apparently Abandoned the Plan For a Joint Police Patrol as Being Impracticable.

New London, Conn., Sept. 15.—A suggestion that the Mexican government create a constabulary for border duty similar to the rurales of the Diaz regime was made today during a brief session of the American-Mexican joint commission, concluding the second week of its deliberations. Apparently the plan for a joint police force previously discussed was abandoned as impracticable after the commissioners had conferred with Major General Tasker H. Bliss, assistant chief of the staff of the United States Army.

General Bliss, it was learned, made to the joint commission today a dispassionate statement of the situation he believed would follow General Pershing's withdrawal from Mexico before a properly constituted constabulary is created to relieve his troops. It is understood he pointed out problems in the way of an effort to create a border police under dual authority.

There is reason to believe the American commissioners have sought to impress their Mexican conferees with the view that Mexico must recognize a responsibility for the depredations her nationals may commit on the border if good relations are to be unimpaired. The whole question of creating a non-military police force to hunt down bandits in their hill retreats is based on this feeling and it is believed the suggestion that the Carranza government undertake this task for itself as an international obligation came from the Mexican commissioners.

The theory is that a force of carefully selected mounted police could be disposed in small posts in the hill country. The chase would become an individual pursuit rather than a military movement which becomes ineffective if the bandits scatter and mingle with peaceful residents. The police would check up the comings and goings of every man in a suspected community. Moving swiftly and unhampered by women camp followers who form the commissary of a Mexican military force, the rurales, it is believed, could do much toward putting a permanent check on brigandage.

URGE FEDERAL AMENDMENT FOR STAMPING OUT LIQUOR

Prohibition Candidates Receive Warm Welcome in Washington State.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 15.—Need of a Federal amendment to stamp out the liquor traffic was urged by the Prohibition National candidates today and tonight in cities of Washington and Oregon, both dry states.

"You cannot get this issue solved by states," J. Frank Hanly, the presidential candidate declared. "You can only do it by National legislation from township local option to state-wide prohibition.

Dr. Landrith, the vice-presidential candidate, pointed to Washington's own experience as proof of his argument for a Federal amendment.

"This state is not dry now," he declared in Chesalis, "and it will not be as long as there is one wet spot in the United States.

Night meetings were held in Tacoma, where an hour's holiday was declared by the mayor during the visit of the candidates today in Portland tonight.

ASKS FURLOUGH FOR TWO REGIMENTS OF GUARDSMEN

Illinois Troops, Equipped for Border Duty, Suffering From Cold.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 15.—A furlough of ten days for the entire first and second regiments of the Illinois National Guard in camp here is asked by Governor Dunne, in a telegram sent to the War Department today. The governor declares the men are suffering from cold.

The troops are said to have only single blankets and not enough clothing to keep them warm. They are equipped for duty on the Mexican border. The temperature went down to 43 degrees here last night.

HALTS BREAD INQUIRY.

Department of Justice Does Not Desire Investigation Now.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—The Department of Justice at Washington today called a halt on Federal investigation in Chicago of the increase in bread prices.

"This department does not wish an investigation made at this time," said a message from A. Bruce Bielaski, chief of the department's bureau of investigation, to Hinton G. Clabaugh, of the department's Chicago office.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Clark Griffith, manager of the Washington Americans, announced tonight before leaving Chicago that Harry Harper, his star left handed twirler, would not pitch again this season. Harper's arm is sore.

CAMPAIGN PLANS AGAIN DISTURBED

READY TO GO TO BEDSIDE

Appears Probable That Mr. Wilson's Speaking Engagement at St. Louis on September 20th Will Be Cancelled.

Long Branch, N. J., Sept. 15.—President Wilson's campaign plans were further disturbed today by the receipt of word from New London, Conn., that his sister, Mrs. Anne E. Howe, who is critically ill there, spent a restless night last night. It appeared probable that Mr. Wilson would cancel an engagement to go to St. Louis September 20 to speak before an underwriters' convention.

Such disturbing news from Mrs. Howe's bedside was received this morning that the President and Mrs. Wilson made plans for going to New London immediately. Later in the afternoon, however, word was received that she was slightly better and Mr. Wilson postponed the trip. He is holding himself in readiness to go to New London at any time.

The President saw no callers today, but divided his time between playing golf and working on correspondence. He plans to spend tomorrow and Monday quietly at Shadow Lawn unless he should be called to New London. While golfing today he and Mrs. Wilson were caught in a severe rainstorm and forced to run to shelter.

Confidence of a Democratic victory in Nebraska was expressed in a telegram from Senator Hitchcock received by the President today. The Senator said a survey of political conditions in his state had convinced him that Mr. Wilson is strong there.

MRS. HOWE'S CONDITION GROWS STEADILY WORSE

New London, Sept. 15.—The condition of Mrs. Anne E. Howe, President Wilson's sister, who is ill here grew steadily worse today. Dr. H. M. Lee, her physicians, was in constant attendance at the bedside tonight, and did not issue his usual evening bulletin concerning her condition.

The morning bulletin stated that Mrs. Howe had grown weaker in the last 12 hours.

ROB BANK OF $6,000

Two Heavily Armed Men Hold up Officials—Escape in Automobile.

Homestead, Fla., Sept. 15.—While two confederates waited outside in an automobile two heavily armed men held up officials of the State Bank of Homestead late today, robbed the counters of $6,000 and escaped in the direction of the Everglades. The two robbers who entered the bank forced S. R. Pridgen, vice-president, and E. Z. Crowley, cashier to face the wall with their hands above their heads. As the men left the bank, Pridgen fired six shots after them. Posses assisted by the Miami police gave chase.

GERMAN PRINCE SHOT DOWN AT CARA ORMAN

Prince Frederick William of Hesse Killed in Battle

Twenty-Eight Thousand Prisoners Taken by the Germans and Bulgars in the Capture of Turtukai Fortress.

Berlin, via London, Sept. 15.—Prince Frederick William of Hesse has been killed at Cara Orman, it was officially announced by the war office today in its report on operations on the Balkan front. It is added that 28,000 prisoners were taken in the conquest of the Rumanian fortress of Turtukai. Concerning the fighting on the Macedonian front the statement tells of the repulse of the Entente attacks on the Moglenica sector and east of the Vardar. The statement follows:

"Balkan front: At several places we broke up the enemy's resistance, driving them back to the general line of Casepun-Cara Orman. Prince Frederick William of Hesse fell near Cara Orman. The number of prisoners taken during the combat around Turtukai and in the conquest of this fortress, according to reports now available, is approximately 28,000 men.

"Macedonian front: After violent fighting Malkanidze, east of Florina, was conquered by the enemy. In Moglena sector, the enemy's attacks were repulsed. East of the Vardar British detachments, having obtained a footing in German trenches, were ejected again."

Prince Frederick William of Hesse was a nephew of Emperor William. He was born in 1893 at Frankfort-on-the Main, the eldest son of Prince Frederick Charles of Hesse and Princess Margaret, a sister of the German Emperor. He was reported wounded in the fighting in France in September, 1914.

Prince Frederick William is the second prince of the house of Hesse to be killed in the war, Prince Maximillen falling on a French battlefield in October, 1914. Seven other German princes have been killed during the war, two of Saxe-Meiningen, three of Lippe, one of Reusa and one of Waldeck.

SYMPATHETIC STRIKE OF 80,000 WORKERS IS EXPECTED BY MONDAY

REFERENDUM IN PROGRESS

Vote of Machinists Union Shows About 70 Per Cent of Members in Favor of Strike

TWO TRACTION ACCIDENTS

Public Service Commission Brings Inquiry to a Close

New York, Sept. 15.—Eighty thousand workers in craft closely affiliated with the operation of New York's traction lines are expected to go on strike by Monday, it was announced at the close of a meeting of the Central Federated Union here late tonight. Representatives of 400,000 unionized employes were at the meeting, it was said, and passed a resolution calling on each trade to ascertain the sentiment of members regaring a general strike in sympathy with the carmen here who quit their places September 6th.

Referendum Being Taken.

A referendum has been in progress among many of the crafts for several days and if the sympathetic strike is authorized, union leaders predict, it will be the most effective blow that could be dealt in the carmen's strike that has been in progress since September 6th on the elevated, subway and surface transportation lines of the city.

The trades in which the referendum has been in progress, it is said, include longshoremen, teamsters, power house employees, stationary engineers and firemen and machinists. The only craft upon which figures were available tonight was the machinists and it was said their vote showed about seventy per cent. of the membership favoring a sympathetic strike.

Blow to Morgan Interests.

Union leaders attach much importance to the action of the machinists, most of whom are employed in plants manufacturing munitions of war for the Entente Allies. The effect of the strike in that trade, they say, would be a direct blow at the Morgan interests, the largest holders of stock in the Interborough Rapid Transit Company. J. P. Morgan & Company are the fiscal agents of the British government in this country.

Several persons were injured, one of them seriously, in two traction accidents tonight. The most serious was a rear-end collision between two trains on the Third Avenue elevated line near the 59th street station. Many passengers suffered severe injuries.

Two trolleys were in collision in The Bronx and four persons, one a patrolman on strike duty, were injured. It is said the cars were being operated by strike-breakers.

Subway and "L" Trains Crowded

Although surface car service was much improved over previous days, subway and elevated trains were more crowded today than at any time since the strike was called. Several women fainted and many persons suffered minor bruises in the crush.

The public service commission brought its inquiry into the strike to a close today. The statement issued with regard to the situation on the Third Avenue Railroad company's lines said there was no evidence of bad faith on the part of the company or any indication that it was the intention of the company to violate the agreement of August 7 which ended the former surface car strike. The commission added that it did find evidence of suspicion on the part of the men to violate the agreement.

"The strike should be called off at once and the agreement of August 7 should be lived up to in letter and in spirit," the statement concluded.

INLAND WATERWAYS OF MILITARY VALUE

Secretary Daniels and Admiral Benson Point Out Imperative Need of System.

THE NAVY TO CO-OPERATE

Philadelphia, Sept. 15.—The imperative need of a great system of inland waterways and coastal canals, which, in addition to providing commercial advantages, would be of inestimable military value in time of war, was pointed out by Secretary Daniels of the Navy Department, and Admiral Benson, chief of naval operations, in addresses before the members of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association, at the Philadelphia navy yard today. The ability of submarines to traverse these inland canals and of battleships to find a haven there in case of invasion was cited by both speakers os one of the greatest arguments in favor of th establishment of the system.

Secretary Daniels promised the delegates the earnest and enthusiastic cooperation of the Navy Department in any practical plan looking to the improvement of the inland waterways along the coast, while Admiral Benson declared the value of such a system from both an economic and military point of view, was sufficient to justify a bond issue to help pay th ecost of construction. While Mr. Daniels was speaking a hydro-aeroplane flew up the river. Noticing it, he said, "I can never be happy until we have at least ten aeroplanes to each battleship."

The waterways association, which is advocating the completion of the inland waterway from Massachusetts to Florida, elected officers at the final session tonight.

Resolutions urging Congress to complete the intra-coastal waterway and to improve the Delaware river from Trenton to Easton were adopted at the final session.

Congressman J. Hampton Moore, was re-elected president; Wilfred H. Schoff, secretary-treasurer, and Durell Schuster, assistant secretary. Mayor Donnelly, of Trenton, Congressman Small, of North Carolina, and Mayor Preston, of Baltimore, were elected vice-presidents-at-large.

INLAND WATERWAYS AS A MEASURE OF PREPAREDNESS

Philadelphia, Sept. 15.—Construction of a great system of inland waterways and coastal canals for commercial use in time of peace and to meet an imperative need in war was advocated by Admiral Benson, chief of naval operations, in a speech here tonight before the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association. The value to the United States of such a system, the Admiral declared, was sufficient from both an economic and military point of view to justify a bond issue to help pay the cost of construction.

Admiral Benson reminded the convention of the recently threatened railroad strike, pointing out how it would have effected progress and preparedness of the nation's first line defense.

"The industrial advantages of the plentiful and continuous inland water transportation," he said, "have been given much attention, but, in my opinion, the military value of such a system of waterways is not realized by the public. The threatened railroad strike, however, emphasized to the Navy Department how greatly an adequote system of transportation by inland waterways would add to national preparedness.

"The threat to stop rail transportation in a way stimulated war conditions. Realizing this, the Navy Department set about, when the possibility of a strike arose, to devise ways of getting its supplies and materials other than by railroad.

"The vital points from which transportation must be secured were found to be the Great Lakes, Schenectady, Pittsburgh and vicinity, New Haven and vicinity, Bethlehem and vicinity, Easton and vicinity and the coal fields of West Virginia.

"The Massachusetts district was found to be, with one or two minor exceptions, easily reached by water. The Erie canal solved the problem of all the great manufacturers on the Great Lakes, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo and Milwaukee. The Lehigh Canal, although not kept up as it should be, gave us relief from Easton. The Delaware river provided an outlet from Philadelphia, Wilmington and that section. The Hudson extended the Erie canal's facilities to New York and also provided an outlet for the electrical material from Schenectady and vicinity.

"When it came to Pittsburgh, however, trouble arose. It was first thought that satisfactory deliveries could be made from the Ohio river to Portsmouth, thence by the Ohio and Erie canal to Cleveland, or via Ohio to the Muskingum and thence via the Ohio and Erie canal to Dresden. These canals were represented as being in active operation and preparations were made to use these routes if necessary. Both these routes had been allowed to

CAPTAIN OF THE STEAMER CONGRESS PRAISES CREW

Tells of the Discovery of the Fire Which Burned His Vessel.

Marshfield, Ore., Sept. 15.—All of the passengers of the burned steamer Congress left here at 4 p. m. today on a special train for Seattle. Two miles off Coos Bay the blackened hulk of the Congress lay still smoking.

"We owe a debt of gratitude to the United States government for the remarkably fine service rendered by the bar dredge Colonel H. E. Michie," said Captain Cousins.

"The members of my crew acted like heroes," he said. "Every man stuck to his post in the face of suffocation and several, after being overcome, wanted to go back. The passengers also behaved splendidly."

Athens, Sept. 14 (via London, Sept. 15.)—The Bulgarians have given up the town of Kastoria, southwest of Florina. However, they have occupied the heights of Coryba, fortifying them against a possible advance of the Entente forces in that sector.

NASHVILLE WINS A SECOND VICTORY FROM CHARLOTTE

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 15.—Nashville secured a second leg on the four game series with Charlotte by a 2 to 1 victory this afternoon. Each of the three games played has been won by a one run margin, Nashville winning the first and Charlotte the second. Slow base running cost the locals a tie in the eighth inning. The Nashville team will disband at the conclusion of the Charlotte series on Saturday.

A proposed post season series with the winner of the American Association pennant has been abandoned on account of two weeks yet remaining on the American Association schedule.

Chapel Hill, Sept. 15—The appearance of about 40 men on Eberson Field yesterday afternoon gave some encouragement to the coaches and it is hoped by them that the number will multiply soon. A little more rigid practice is being gradually undertaken as soreness in the men begins to wear off. The squad is being put through many kinds of conditioning exercises.

TOTAL OF 74 PLAYERS FROM MINOR LEAGUES

Drafted Yesterday at Cincinnati by Major League Clubs

Of This Number, the American League Obtained Forty-Seven Players While the National League Got But Twenty-Seven.

Cincinnati, Sept. 15.—Seventy-four minor league players were drafted by the major leagues at the meeting of the National Baseball Commission, and representatives of every major league club here today.

Of this number, the American League obtained 47 and the National 27. These latter figures do not signify that the American League was proportionately more lucky in the draw than the National but that President Johnson's organization had in a large majority of the drafts, the Philadelphia Americans alone making an effort to obtain 26 youngsters through this method of baseball procedure.

Of the 26 that Connie Mack attempted to get 12 were forthcoming to him when the drawing of lots had been completed He was surpassed, however, by the Chicago Americans, who obtained 14 players. Next in point of number came the Cleveland Americans and the Chicago Nationals with seven each, while the New York Americans coralled five, Cincinnati, Brooklyn and the St. Louis Americans each obtained four, while Detroit, Boston Nationals and Pittsburg came away with three each. The New York Nationals, St. Louis Nationals, Philadelphia Nationals and Washington each received two, while the Boston Americans retired from the meeting room at the end of the draw without a single player.

That the minor league field has been picked over rather thoroughly for good material through the process of purchase was indicated by the fact that in no individual case was there an exceptionally keen competition, the majority of the players being drafted by a single club.

At the beginning of the meeting it was announced that the major league clubs would be permitted to take five days in which to select their players from the Class A and Class AA clubs. Directly following the drawing of lots, however, this decision was changed and a ruling was made that the selections would have to be made today. This rule was complied with five exceptions, Cleveland being undecided who they will take from Indianapolis and Baltimore; Chicago Americans being undecided relative to Montreal and Richmond, Va., and Washington announcing that they would choose later from St. Paul.

Every major league team was represented minor league magnates also put in an appearance. Among the drafts were the following:

Gordinier, Newport News, St. Louis Nationals; Henry, Petersburg, Va., Chicago Americans; Lake, Newport News, Chicago Americans; Ray, Newport News, Chicago Americans; Teague, of Rocky Mount, N. C., Chicago Americans.

I. team will take on both the Giants and Immanuels, in an effort to raise themselves from the bottom of the heap. As both their opponents are also entertaining pennant winning ideas, this will make an interesting little scrap.

Palmgren and Corbett will likely do the heaving for the Soldiers while Jacobs will serve them up for the Immanuels. Yates will probably be the choice of the Giants. First game will be called at 3:30.

NEW TYPE OF ARMORED CAR IS USED BY THE BRITISH

Approaches the Enemy in the Roadless Wilderness of Trenches.

London, Sept. 16.—The references in the official communication issued by the war office yesterday afternoon to a new type of armored car is first official mention of a development that has been much whispered about recently in army circles. Those who have seen the new vehicles refer to them as "tanks" while the soldiers who have been handling them have given them the nickname of "Willies."

The object that the designers sought to obtain was to render a heavily armored motor car capable of being operated in the shell torn and roadless wilderness of trenches where it is evident a vehicle mounted on ordinary wheels could not be used.

become useless because of the failure of the State of Ohio to provide appropriations for their upkeep. Similar conditions have rendered useless the other waterways.

"Had these canals been kept up, they would have enabled the department to ship heavy plates and the necessary material for construction and repair work on battleships from Pittsburgh via canal directly to New York. The failure to keep them up necessitated the working out of an elaborate trolley route to Buffalo, which, at its best, would have provided for only a small fraction of the 2,500 tons which were needed within six weeks at the New York yard alone, and this in time of peace with no demands to be considered.

"The canal from Easton to Bristol was found to be too small. The Lehigh canal, being under the control of railroads, was also in poor shape for transportation, and the Morris canal, so far as information could be secured, was practically out of business. With these routes open and kept efficient, the all-important armor plate district of Bethlehem would be free of the necessity of using railroad transportation.

"In considering the coal districts, upon which a large portion of our merchant vessels depend, the situation was found to be hopeless. Without railroads, coal would lie idle at the mines and ships would lie idle at their moorings after a very brief cessation of railroad traffic. A water system from these mines would appear to be a most imperative military necessity.

"Some of the canals, which we would like to use in time of emergency are leased to railroads by long-time contracts and the railroads have not kept them up or encouraged their use. It would seem to be wise military precaution, also, that railroads leasing canals should be required to keep them in operating condition under penalty of forfeiture of lease.

"Our principal navy yards, private shipbuilding plants, arms and munition factories, powder magazines, etc., are located along or near the Atlantic coast. A system of adequate internal waterways connecting all these activities would be of value beyond estimate."

Wake Jury Finds Him Guilty of "Assault on a Woman."

(Special Star Telegram).

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 18.—The trial of E. S. Thomas on the charge of criminal assault on Miss Eula Nunn, of Nashville, Tenn., two weeks ago in a Pullman car in the union station here, was concluded at 10 o'clock tonight with a verdict by the jury to the effect that they found him not guilty of attempted criminal assault, but guilty of assault on a woman, being over 18 years of age. This verdict leaves the court with special statutory authority to impose a maximum sentence of two years in the penitentiary and proportional fine.

Judge Bond, after taking the verdict, thanked the jurors and stated that he would leave further action in the case until tomorrow morning.

The trial of Thomas began at 10 o'clock this morning and by noon all the evidence was in for the prosecution. The defense had announced that there would be no evidence in rebuttal and recess was taken to 2 o'clock when argument by counsel began with James H. Pou associated with Solicitor Norris for the prosecution and former Judge W. S. O'B. Robinson and W. T. Dortch, of Goldsboro, and Charles U. Harris, of Raleigh, for the defense.

The witnesses examined were Miss Nunn, Dr. A. W. Moore, of Charlotte, who was a passenger; R. E. Lumsden, transfer mail clerk at Union Station, and Conductors J. F. Stephens and O. C. Hoover, in charge of the train. There witnesses testified to the circumstances of the assault and the condition of Thomas when he was pulled out from the young woman's berth. The only evidence as to drunkenness was a statement by Miss Nunn that she smelled whiskey on his breath. The court house was crowded during the progress of the hearing and more especially during the afternoon for the argument by counsel.

In outlining the defense in his speec hopening the argument this afternoon, W. T. Dortch stressed especially the plea that Thomas was too much under the influence of liquor to realize what he was doing and that there were circumstances which constrained Thomas to be under the impression in his drunken condition that he was with his wife. He argued that there was strong cause for the absence of evidence on the part of the railroad conductors that Thomas was drunk in that it is one of t he regulations of the service that drunken men must not be taken on the trains and that if they get drunk on the train they must be put off. In either event the railroad conductors, he insisted, would stand self-convicted of failure to discharge their duty if they testified that Thomas was drunk or in any way acquiesced in such testimony.

SAYS AMERICAN BUSINESS INTERESTS WILL BE SAFE

Lloyd George Makes State Regarding British Mail Censorship.

London, Sept. 15.—David Lloyd George, British secretary for war, today gave the Associated Press the following statement:

"There appears to be a deliberate campaign, set on foot in the United States by German agents to throw doubt on the good faith of his majesty's government in regard to the use of information obtained through the censorship.

"These German agents, with whose underground methods of working we are quite familiar, appear now to have ressurrected my statement in the house of commons on August 8, although that statement was fully explained by Lord Robert Cecil, minister of war trade, on August 9 and most explicit assurances on the game subject were given by him in a later interview on August 25.

"In spite of this these propagandists are trying to dress out my statement as something new, nullifying Lord Robert Cecil's assurances which followed it. Let me now say on behalf of the military authorities what has already been said on behalf of the foreign office—that when information is passed on by the censorship to other departments it is for the sole purpose of guiding the action of the government in the conduct of the war.

"That, frankly stated, is what we do But we affirm and challenge any one to deny it that honest business interests and trade secrets of an American merchant or manufacturer are as safe in the hands of the military censors and of every other government department as they are in the hands of the American postoffice."

THREE N. C. UNIVERSITY PROFESSORS CONTRIBUTORS

To Special Chemical Edition of the Manufacturers Record.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Chapel Hill, N. C., Sept. 15.—Three University of North Carolina professors appear in the list of contributors to the special edition of the Manufacturers' Record, published this week, entitled "The Chemical Potentialities of the South." In this number the publishers have tried to set forth the best thought in the country concerning the great possibilities for the development of the chemical resources of the South and have brought to their aid such well known scientists as Ira Remsen, formerly president of Johns Hopkins, and Dr. Arthur D. Little, of Boston.

Prominent space is given to an article by Professor Charles Holmes Herty on "The Role of Chemistry in the Industrial Development of the South."

Prof. Francis P. Venable also contributes an illuminating article on "What the Chemist Means to the Manufacturer." Pro. Joseph Hyde Pratt contributes one of the leading articles in this number on "Utilizing Our Raw Materials at Home," as well as a shorter article in the same number.

NO OFFICIAL ADVICES AS TO THE CEBU INCIDENT

England Apparently Disposed to Quickly Correct the Matter.

London, Sept. 15.—No official advices have been received here regarding the incident of the Cebu, the Philippine inter-island steamer reported held up by a British destroyed in Philippine territorial waters, officials first learning of it through the newspapers.

It was said at the foreign office today that an examination of the steamer within the territorial waters of the Philippines was inconcsivable, and that there must have been a mistake in the location either bythe commander of the Cebu or of the British warship. If the latter had erred it was indicated that there was every possible disposition here to correct the matter in the quickest possible time.

MOVIES MAKE SALES

Many Concerns Use Pictures to Illustrate Manufacturing.

(From the Detroit Free Press.)

Moving pictures are playing a part in the publicity campaigns of many concerns. The automobile makers discovered what could be done in this way and others have followed their lead.

People always are interested in the method of manufacture of any article of common use. By means of the motion picture camera the process is recorded on the films step by step, this is trimmed and otherwise adjusted so that it will show just what the manufacture desires to convey.

Some companies have special exhibits of the sort, which they show in halls and under canvas about the country. Others make arrangements with the photographers to have the pictures displayed in the regular houses. Tens of thousands of people see them and general interest is excited. Also, it fixes the mind on a certain brand of product, and this is apt to assert itself when the individual comes to buying anything of the sort.

CRIMINAL ASSAULT CHARGED

Durham Man Arrested at Instance of Farmer's Wife.

(Special Star Telegram).

Durham, N. C., Sept. 15—John Thompson, 30 years of age and a well digger by profession, was arrested on South Mangum street about noon today by Deputy Sheriff Morgan on a charge of criminally assaulting Mrs. Bettie Jacobs, wife of a prominent Patterson township farmer. Thompson was jailed without bond and will be given a hearing by Justice Cox tomorrow afternoon.

The alleged assault occurred at the Jacobs home on Tuesday, September 5. Mrs. Jacobs, who is the mother of one child, was in a delicate state of health at the time. The defendant denies the charge emphatically. He was engaged in digging a well on the Jacobs farm and was taking his meals there at the time.

THEATRICAL

"That Sort," a 5-act picture of unusual human appeal, has just been released by Essanay on the V. L. S. E. program.

This is an exceptionally subtle drama for the screen, depending for its interest more on the clash of characters over internal passions, than on external action. Not that action is lacking, for it is filled with it, but it is the action of individuals under great stress of emotion rather than violent physical clashes.

It is intensely dramatic in its appeal, depicting the most terrible agony that ever wrenched a woman's soul. The woman was young and fair; she had wealth; the world was at her feet. But she forgot the ancient law; she sinned.

The woman paid; she paid in days of burning agony, in nights of feverish torture. Through suffering she atoned, but the scarlet scar remained to sear her soul as no branding iron ever burned.

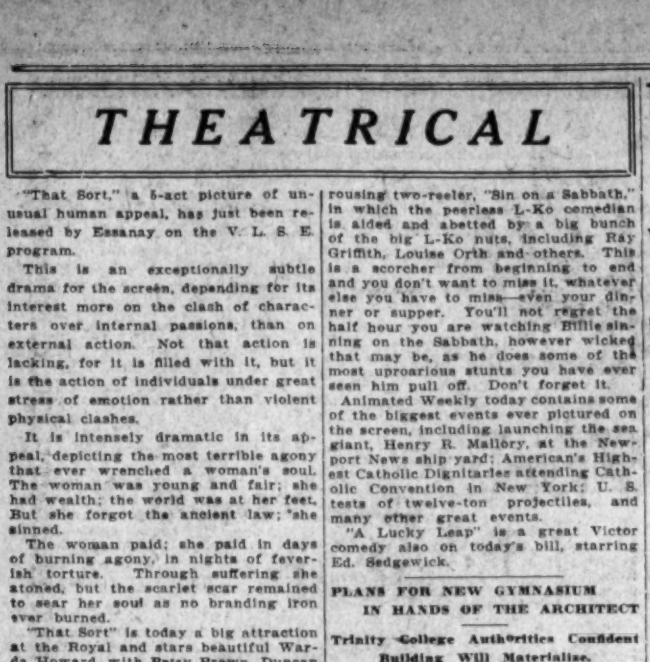
Day of Stars at Grand.

You often pay ten cents to witness the presentation of a picture starring Blanche Sweet; you always go when something is announced starring that prince of popularity, Henry Walthall, no matter what the price; when Mabel Normand is announced, you are never among the missing, and when that great aggregation of "Birth of a Nation stars," Henry Walthall, Lillian Gish, Mae Marsh, Claire McDowell, Robert Harron and Charles Miles are on



MAE MARSH

MAE MARSH.
With Henry Walthall, Blanche Sweet, Lillian Gish, Robert Harron, Mabel Normand and Other Stars in the Griffith-Sennett All-Star Programme at the Grand theatre Today.

But today, in order to get everyone of you, the Grand has booked one of those great Griffith-Sennett All-Star Biograph programmes, in which every star mentioned above, and some other big ones are featured. A leading film man conceived the idea of gathering together the greatest short subjects ever produced by those wizard directors and putting them on one day's programme. Consequently two of these programmes have been assembled, one being presented at the Grand today and the other one next Saturday.

"Judith of Bethulia," the headliner, is a four-reel feature, the last picture produced by David Griffith before starting on "The Birth of a Nation" and stars Blanche Sweet, Henry Walthall, Mae Marsh, Lillian Gish, Claire McDowell, Robert Harron and Charles Miles, the greatest aggregation of stars ever seen in one picture.

"The Little Tease," a two-reeler, stars Mae Marsh, Henry Walthall and William Christie Miller, three "Birth of a Nation" stars.

"The Diving Girl," in one reel, stars Mabel Normand and Fred Mace and is the most artistic Keystone ever produced by Mack Sennett. Don't let this great bill go by today. The same hours of performances as at the Royal will be in force.

Best Yet at Victoria.

Guy Johnson outdid all previous efforts when he framed up that sketch "The Reconciliation," which was presented for the first time at the Victoria yesterday. This little musical comedy is one of the best of the kind that has been presented in Wilmington in many months, and is with sufficient plot so that it maintains the interest from beginning to end. All the parts are in able hands, and outside of the great musical and vaudeville sketches, this would make a good show alone.

They were all there with bells on yesterday, and will repeat the same show again today and tonight. The opening piece, "Sweetheart Time," by the entire company, is one of the prettiest songs yet presented, and Miss Grace Hutchison, who followed with "Quaker Town" captivated everyone. She is just about the prettiest and most talented little soubrette seen here in a long while, and always brings the applause when she appears.

Another piece that caught the spirit of the occasion was "Beautiful Dreams" by Alice Sohn, and Sextette. Hutchison (Grace) and Wiest (George) furnishes a new and novel stunt with the piano and did some fancy dancing that astonished the audience. "My Own Iona" is another catchy melody, presented by that dainty bit of femininity, Miss Louise Wright.

This big show will be on for the last time today and tonight, and Wilmingtonians should avail themselves of this last opportunity of witnessing Guy and Elsie Johnson's all-star aggregation.

Billie Ritchie Today.

Dear Old Billie Ritchie is at the Bijou today in a return engagement on one of the very greatest comedy features he has ever yet appeared in, a rousing two-reeler, "Sin on a Sabbath," in which the peerless L-Ko comedian is aided and abetted by a big bunch of the big L-Ko nuts, including Ray Griffith, Louise Orth and others. This is a scorcher from beginning to end and you don't want to miss it, whatever else you have to miss—even your dinner or supper. You'll not regret the half hour you are watching Billie sinning on the Sabbath, however wicked that may be, as he does some of the most uproarious stunts you have ever seen him pull off. Don't forget it.

Animated Weekly today contains some of the biggest events ever pictured on the screen, including launching the sea giant, Henry R. Mallory, at the Newport News ship yard; American's Highest Catholic Dignitaries attending Catholic Convention in New York; U. S. tests of twelve-ton projectiles, and many other great events.

PLANS FOR NEW GYMNASIUM IN HANDS OF THE ARCHITECT

Trinity College Authorities Confident Building Will Materialize.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Trinity College, Durham, Sept. 15.—Plans for the new gymnasium which Trinity apparently is destined to possess are already in the hands of Hook, the college architect, and it is expected that work on the building will begin sometime in the n ear future. A circular letter setting forth the necessity for such a gymnasium has been drawn up by Bishop John C. Kilgo, who first signalled the proposition for the new structure, and soon will be sent to patrons and alumni of the college. If the letter receives the expected response—and there is little likelihood that the opposite will happen—constructive work will begin some time during the ensuing year.

In speaking of the interest and backing which friends and alumni are already displaying in the campaign, Professor R. L. Flowers, secretary to the corporation, said: "I have no doubt in the world that we shall have the new gymnasium. Those alumni and patrons of the college to whom I have occasion to mention the matter seem very enthusiastic and promise substantial aid."

OAK RIDGE OPENS WELL.

More Than 100 New Students Already Enrolled—Improvements.

(Special Star Correspondence).

Oak Ridge, N. C., Sept. 15.—Oak Ridge Institute has opened with a large attendance and students continue to arrive and will for the next ten days or two weeks. There are more than 100 new students enrolled and the usual number of old men. The class room work is progressing finely. Athletic activities are beginning. New tennis courts have been provided.

Professor Johnston is getting his basketball squad out. Prof. E. P. Holt is on the baseball grounds every afternoon with two full teams. Prof. R. L. Whitaker will coach the football squad. There is an unusual number of large men here. One of them tips the scale at 275 pounds, another at 210, and both are more than six feet tall.

The dormitories were thoroughly overhauled during vacation.

An event of great interest to the community is the marriage of Mr. D. L. Donnell to Miss Dore Korner, of Kernersville, October 12.

Dr. Hodges Addresses American Life Convention at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Sept. 15.—Southerners are not as unhealthy as generally is supposed, said Dr. J. Allison Hodges, of Richmond, Va., in an address here today before the American Life convention.

He declared unfounded the belief that Southern people have a lower vitality than Northerners and said that as a whole conditions in the South tended to longevity.

THINKS FAYETTEVILLE HAS SPLENDID CHANCE

Will Get Armor Plant if Located East of Alleghanies

Secretary Sutton Reports Hearing at Washington—District Odd Fellows Meeting—Venire From Robeson Summoned.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fayetteville, Sept. 15.—"If the government armor plate factory is located east of the Alleghany mountains, Fayetteville has a splendid chance of getting it," said President T. H. Sutton, of the Fayetteville chamber of commerce, who headed the Fayetteville delegation to Washington to present Fayetteville's case before the General Board of the Navy, on the return of the committee this morning. There was not one of the 125 cities competing for the plant, according to the members of the committee, that made a better showing of real facts than did Fayetteville.

The showing of hydro-electric development made by Fayetteville was far and away the best made by any city. "Fayetteville simply had them faded on hydro-electric power," said the committeemen. Richmond, for instance, presented a fine brief, and had a big delegation, (though the size of the delegation, of course, has nothing to do with making armor plate) but on the question of power was not in it with the North Carolina city.

An addendum to Fayetteville's brief, added at the suggestion of Senator Simmons, states that this city is ready to furnish a site of 100 acres, or as much as may be required, on the high bluffs of the Cape Fear river anywhere fro mthe mouth of Rockfish river to the wharves at Fayetteville.

J. D. Gunter, of Sanford, was elected president of the Seventh district organization of Odd Fellows when the Seventh district representatives met with the Corss Creek lodge here yesterday afternoon. C. C. Hughes, of Siler City, was made vice-president. J. C. Gibbs, of this city, was elected secretary and treasurer, the two offices being consolidated.

Hosiery Mill Secured.

A new industry, which will give employment to 75 people at the beginning and probably 100 or more within a short time after its establishment, has been secured for this city by the chamber of commerce, this being a hosiery mill owned by well known capitalists of Eastern North Carolina. The owners have leased the property formerly used by the Algodon knitting mill and are starting work on the remodelling of the building to suit their needs. Sixty knitting machines will be installed at once, and this number will probably be increased later.

From a venire of 36 Robeson county men will be drawn the jury to try the case of D. W. Carter vs. the International Harvester Company, in the Superior court here next week. The venire was drawn from Robeson on account of the feeling engendered in the case. At the March term the cause, being heard for the first time, resulted in a mistrial owing to a reversion of testimony on the part of a witness placed on the stand by the plaintiff.

Another interesting case on the crowded docket is the disbarment proceeding against James H. Johnson, the Cumberland county lawyer, who has been twice convicted of selling wine and whom Governor Craig pardoned last May, following the first conviction. Johnson was again convicted of this offense at the late August term for an act committed before the governor's pardon. Owing to this later fact Johnson is a free man under a continuance of judgment by Judge Winston. The disbarment proceeding will be taken up the first thing Monday.

Judge Winston will preside, this being his second court in Cumberland county.

Winston-Salem, N. C., Sept. 15.—The heaviest sales of the season were registered on the leaf tobacco market here today when 136,486 pounds were sold at an average price of $17.88 a hundred pounds. One pile of 22 pounds sold at 30 cents a pound. Very little real leaf has been sold yet, the sales consisting mainly of "primings" or ground leaves.

TOP O' THE MORNING.

The heart feels; the intellect stores, but the will controls. The heart may break, but it must not control. —S. D. GORDON.

When it comes to making a campaign speech, Martin Glynn is it.

A man with cotton seed can get all sort of kale seed for them.

Handing a fellow a lemon is no reason why he should be just as sour as the lemon.

Another map which won't recognize itself after the war in Europe is that of our old friend China.

Little girls believe in fairies, but there are some real fairies that the young men believe in till something happens.

A Durham man was caught with a gallon of liquor in his possession, but it may be prima facie evidence of his prearranged plan to go on a fishing frolic.

Maine's misconduct has nothing to do with the behavior of the other 47 states of the Union. About all the publicity that Maine gets is during election times.

Headline hint in the Baltimore Sun: "To Tighten Marriage Rule." Doubtless the Baltimoreans have been subject to so much marriage rule that tightening it can't make it a bit tighter than common.

Truth is stranger than fiction but men who cannot recognize the truth consider that fiction is good enough for them. Noah's flood warnings were scoffed at, but he survived those who did not know enough to get in out of the wet. There are others.

The price that each of us is now paying for the war in Europe is being felt more severely every day. It is an indirect tax that is coming home to everybody. Those who have been made rich by the war are few compared with the millions whose daily living expense is becoming a serious problem.

Congressman Gardner seems to have gotten himself into an argument with Secretary Daniels' dreadnaughts. The dreadnaughts have replied to Gardner and made a hit 20,000 yards away, striking targets more than 11 miles at sea, beyond the vision of the gunners. Science and not sight was exemplified in such target practice. We now realize that Gus is not in the dreadnaught class.

Judge Hughes insists that Huerta was a strong man, but our recollection of it is that Huerta didn't have any confidence in his strength. As soon as he found out that Carranza was stronger than he was he vamoosed the ranch and lit out for Spain to avoid any further test of his strength with Carranza and his whiskers. It ought to be apparent to Judge Hughes that Huerta exhausted his strength in breaking all ties with Mexico in order that he might haste away to Spain where nobody was after his goat.

Martin H. Glynn has been doing some figuring since last Monday, and he has sprung one on those Republicans who have been elated and inflated because of the result of the Maine election, contending that it is a repudiation of the Wilson policies and a forecast of National Republican victory. "This same kind of Republican victory would swing New York to Wilson by 250,000," Mr. Glynn declares, as a result of his mathematical calculation. He bases the assertion upon the fact that the average Republican majority in Maine in the last five National elections was 33,164 and yet last Monday the Republicans carried it by only 13,000. It is up to the Republicans to do some more figuring, if they are to get comfort out of the Maine election.

THE FUTURE OF OUR FOREIGN TRADE.

Very few people would care to destroy our present prosperity by adopting uncertain measures under the guise of assuring a continuance of our present prosperity. Some Americans have contracted the habit of thinking that prosperity is a matter of politics—both our domestic and foreign politics—but we ought to know by this time that prosperity is not a matter of politics but a matter of economic conditions at home and abroad—especially abroad. Americans who have something to sell can sell it if the people at home or abroad have anything with which to buy.

It makes very little difference what kind of an administration we have in Washington so far as our foreign trade is concerned, unless it is an administration whose policy is to have contentions with foreign countries and to enact legislation that will provoke retaliation against us. We know that President Wilson's policy is to cultivate amicable relations with foreign nations, hence if the Democrats carry the country there is little need of worrying about our foreign trade, so far as politics and policies are concerned. The thing that worries us the most is whether or not foreign countries will be in a position to trade with us after the war. Upon the condition in foreign countries depends our foreign trade, but the New York Mail and Express (Rep.) discusses that feature of the cause of prosperity and raises the point as to what is to be the influence of our international policy upon our future trade relations. Says the Mail and Express:

"In the midst of our prosperity we pause and ask ourselves: Are we preparing for prosperity in the future? What is to be the influence of our international policy, for example, upon the future of America? Our future prosperity is intimately connected with the growth of our evport trade. We need foreign markets to absorb our surplus production, both agricultural and industrial, but mainly of manufactured goods. We have always been an exporter of products of farm, forest and mine. If anything happens to close the foreign markets for cotton, wheat, lumber, copper, oil, the untaken foreign quota weighs upon the home market and brings adversity to all producers. This was graphically illustrated when the export cotton movement was dammed in August and September, 1914. So it will be with most of our industries after this war. We shall find ourselves with a factory production beyond our consuming power. Oversea markets must be kept open. What will be the future influence of the administration's foreign policy upon this question of oversea markets?"

In almost every line of what the Mail and Express says it will be observed that it emphasizes that upon our export or foreign trade depends a continuance of prosperity. It isn't a matter of the tariff or other domestic policies, but a matter of keeping up our exports and trade relations with foreign countries.

The only thing that seems to worry the Mail and Express is as to what will be the effect of the administration's foreign policy upon the overseas markets. Unless it is to be a foreign policy that will make enemies instead of friends it will have little effect on our trade relations, but an administration which cultivates amicable relations and encourages our foreign trade, as does the Wilson administration, can be depended upon to extend our foreign trade and thus secure a continuance of prosperity.

In fact, the Wilson administration has provided a trade commission and in order to assure transportation it has given us the Federal Shipping bill, which in emergencies will take care of our foreign trade. We already know what influence the Wilson administration will have as to our export trade, but it is all guess work so far as a Hughes-Roosevelt administration would be concerned.

If prosperity depends upon our export trade, as the New York paper truly says, the best thing to do to assure it would be to keep the Democrats in power. That would be letting well enough alone. Certainly, if we are going to have a factory production beyond our own power to consume, we won't need any tariff to encourage more factory production. What we will need is export markets so we can sell all that our factories can produce. We may have to take foreign products in exchange, but if they are things we need it will enable foreigners to take what we have to sell.

It all depends upon whether foreigners are able to pay us for our goods or whether they can exchange theirs for ours. Leave it all to Wilson. He will not follow the Republican plan of shutting out foreign trade with a high tariff with the expectation that foreigners will buy from us. They will take only what they are obliged to have, and that is the reason that cotton and foodstuffs constitute the greater portion of what we sell when the Republicans are on the job.

REAL AMERICANISM ABROAD

None of President Wilson's ambassadorial appointments to foreign courts have put on knee breeches with buckles and played the flunkey in the presence of nobility. The Wilson diplomats are sturdy Americans and they have not disgusted their fellow Americans by fawning before the dignitaries of Europe. Judge Hughes does not seem to like the real American type of men who represent this country at European capitals. Nevertheless, a much abler Republican than he has pronounced them worthy of their country. This is what he states as his own observation:

"During the last four years my business has taken me to many foreign countries. I have been especially impressed with the ambassadors, ministers and other foreign appointees of President Wilson whom I have met. I grant that these men may be repugnant to the old school and conservative diplomats, and in their eyes may be 'unfit,' but no one can criticize the character of these men. I have found these men full of the vision that the only way the United States and permanently establish its influence abroad is to help other countries in their own unhampered development. Personally, I feel it my duty to back up any administration which is working with this spirit."

That sounds like the utterance of a loyal Democratic supporter of Mr. Wilson, doesn't it? But it is not. It is the testimony of a New Englander, a life-long Republican, and one who is said to be America's foremost statistician and financial expert, Robert W. Babson, of Boston, who has announced that he will vote for Wilson in November. How does his testimony comport with Hughes' attack upon Wilson for the alleged low order of men representing this country abroad?

A MERE CUTTLEFISH ISSUE

The Republicans charge Democratic officeholders at Washington with nepotism, which is getting as many of the family as possible in touch with the pie counter. Of course, nepotism ranks as a non-partisan impropriety but it does not constitute a party crime. However, if it were a hanging offense, both Republicans and Democrats might have to be strung up on account of love and affection for their kinsfolk.

In the matter of nepotism, the Republicans set the Democrats a horrible example, and so the Democrats act almost human if they follow Republican precedents in the matter of looking out for the whole darn family. However, we reject the whole thing as an impossible campaign issue, for the simple reason that nepotism is a common, ordinary feed trough matter that is a wholly personal and not a national question. The court rules it out on the ground that two parties guilty of the same offense are not credible as deponents who depose and incriminate themselves as pot and kettle defendants whose blackguard is a matter for alley cats to chew the rag about. The court cannot suffer the indignity of hearing such irrelevant and irreverent matter, in no wise appertaining to and bearing upon the main issue of recognizing an Indian dictator as the chief Incahonee of Mexico.

Wherefore, we must confine ourselves to portentous national problems and ignore mere family matters which concern the consanguinity of mere individuals who get their fingers in the pie and pull out a plum. Little Tom Horner must confine himself to the corner in a campaign in which we are called upon as sovereign American citizens to make choice between a president who could see no Sunday school scholarly attributes in Huerta on the one hand and, on the other, a judicial candidate who recognizes extenuating circumstances in the case of Huerta, who thoughtfully hugged Madero good-bye before turning him over to the firing squad.

Nepotism is a mere cuttlefish issue which cannot possibly be permitted to darken the waters so we cannot see the sea serpents in the swim.

BARBARIANS AT SPORT

Prof. Riddick, the newly elected president of the A. & M. College, at Raleigh, evidently has entered upon his duties as head of this great State institution with a determination of stamping out effectively the semi-barbarous practice of hazing new students. In the case of young George Tiencken the offense seems to have been aggravated by the circumstances that the men or boys who handled him rather roughly were not even students of the college.

Prof. Riddick doubtless will now place some limitations upon visitors upon the campus and this restriction would seem to be warranted. If the men or boys who visit the campus cannot deport themselves as visitors, it would seem that exclusion is the remedy. We have no way of knowing what the trial of the "hazers" will develop, but President Riddick seems to have taken hold of the affair of the New Hanover boy with a determination that augurs well for the institution.

Very little can be said of the prospective manhood that can be expected of youth whose instincts are deplorably senseless and barbarous. A depraved idea of sport does not indicate a future type of citizen that society badly needs. Manliness seems to be a rare virtue in the youngsters whose disposition leads them to humiliate, insult and do injury to one who is at their mercy and entitled to their protection.

Some boob in Boston wanted a court to inform him how to keep his wife from taking his money from his pocket while he is asleep. In "intoolectual" Boston men ought to know enough not to go to sleep and totally ignore the fact that vigilance is the price of liberty. However, the best way for a dutiful, obedient and domesticated husband to keep his spouse from taking his wad is to give it to her before thinking about going to sleep. Otherwise it will cause her to sit up and lose sleep in order to get all that is coming to her. It is strange how many men are trying to go through life without knowing this.

A contemporary says: "The thinnest thing we have seen during the campaign is Hughes' arguments." That is saying a great deal, but our contemporary probably will admit that the advantage that the ham in a sandwich has over Hughes' argument is that one can see through the ham.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

CURRENT COMMENT.

The Brunswick Eagle says: "Brunswick, Scotland and Sampson counties are the only three heard from that have actually reduced the tax rate on the people since the last assessment. Will Mr. Terrell please tell us in his next issue what counties last year were compelled to shorten their school term on account of no funds.—Pender Chronicle.

Congressman Stedman who is taking a rest at Mount Airy after his strenuous months in Washington, is expected in Greensboro in a few days. His many friends will be glad to see him, and we take it that upon his arrival the politics of the old Fifth district will commence to get warm. The major has hundreds of admirers in the Republican party and while many of them may not vote for him they sing his praises. The campaign will be fought along clean lines, and the hope of the Republicans to elect their man is dim. We have an idea that Major Stedman will be returned by at least three thousand majority. For the reason that he has made good—exceptionally good. In Washington, in Congress, no man stands higher and the people of this district are not going to change servants at this time.—Greensboro Record (Ind.).

WARSAW PEOPLE DISAPPOINTED

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Warsaw, Sept. 15.—Messrs. E. L. Travis and A. J. Maxwell, of the Corporation Commission, were in Warsaw yesterday, and to the regret of most of the citizens of the town, decided to allow the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company to build the new depot, facing away from the town, and to place the present unsightly depot building on the town-end of the new building, as a freight depot.

This is a disappointment to those of the town who have civic pride, and wish to see the appearance of the town improved, of whom there are fully 98 per cent of the citizens, for, whereas, the town was about equally divided on the question of location of the new union depot, nearly all were agreed in desiring the building to face towards the town, and if necessary to use the old building, it should be placed behind instead of in front of the new one.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT EFFECTED

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., Sept. 15.—With material improvements and changes, including an enlargement of the waiting rooms, the Atlantic Coast Line station and office building will in all probability be put into service this week. The changes and improvements, along with additional building represent an outlay of approximately $10,000. During the several months that workmen were at the task of rebuilding the interior of the first floor of the building and an additional structure in the court in the rear of the building, to care for rest room improvements, the public has been cared for by seats placed under the umbrella shed, and an improvised ticket office has been built alongside the building.

The waiting rooms for both white and colored have been about doubled in size, the heating arrangements changed, and the ticket office is about twice the size.

TRINITY NOT OVERCROWDED

Has Ample Accommodations for the Increased Number of Students.

(Special Star Correspondence).

Trinity College, Durham, N. C., Sept. 15.—After the formal opening of the 44th session of the institution, Trinity College began regular routine work today. Present indications are that the freshman class of this year will be the largest which has ever entered. Already about 250 have registered at the college office, and delinquents are coming in. Early speculation places the likely number of new students at 275. Dormitories and boarding houses are abundantly populated, but the accommodations are ample and the administration is not expecting any serious inconvenience by reason of the increased number of students.

Kinston, N. C., Sept. 15.—The infant child of T. F. Barbee and wife, of Richlands, N. C., growing violently ill with malignant croup, was rushed to this city in an automobile by a doctor and at 1 o'clock in the morning Dr. W. T. Parrott, a specialist, tubed the larynx in an effort to establish respiration. The child's recovery still is uncertain, although it is breathing well. The family are at a home in North College street. The case is not thought to be diphtheria.

WHOLE-HEALTH OR SEMI-HEALTH

An Average of Only One in Twenty Enjoys Whole Health.

"Only one in twenty persons," says the State Boar dof Health, "enjoys whole-health; the rest live on in a state of semi-health, not sick enough to go to bed nor well enough to engage in their work with zest and enjoyment. Those who half-live from the standpoint of health, half live from many other view points. For instance, a man who lives only half well is only half efficient. He is capable of using only half of his mental and physical powers and therefore he is only half productive.

"People live in a state of semi-health mainly for two reasons: First, because they don't know the pleasure of good health nor do they appreciate its value in life. They have gotten into the habit of enjoying poor health and really want nothing better. Second, they live in a state of semi-health on account of their indiscreet modes of living. They usually over-indulge at the dinner table, leave off physical exercise, lose sleep and get insufficient rest, fresh air and sunshine. In other words, they don't order the affairs of the day toward an efficient and healthful life. Good health must be ordered at every meal and cultivated in every daily habit in order to be enjoyed and mean most to life."

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Rain compelled the postponement of the Grand Circuit races at the New York State fair today. Tomorrow's card includes 11 races, nine for amateur drivers and two class events, a 2:10 pace and a 2:06 trot.

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Of Mrs. Chappell, of Five Years' Standing, Relieved by Cardui.

Mt. Airy, N. C.—Mrs. Sarah M. Chappell of this town, says: "I suffered for five years with womanly troubles, also stomach troubles, and my punishment was more than any one could tell.

I tried most every kind of medicine, but none did me any good.

I read one day about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I decided to try it. I had not taken but about six bottles until I was almost cured. It did me more good than all the other medicines I had tried, put together.

My friends began asking me why I looked so well, and I told them about Cardui. Several are now taking it."

Do you, lady reader, suffer from any of the ailments due to womanly trouble, such as headache, backache, sideache, sleeplessness, and that everlastingly tired feeling?

If so, let us urge you to give Cardui a trial. We feel confident it will help you, just as it has a million other women in the past half century.

Begin taking Cardui to-day. You won't regret it. All druggists.

SENATOR CLAPP WILL SPEAK IN WILMINGTON

Prominent Republican Of Northwest To Advocate Packing House

Accepts Invitation to Attend Organization Meeting Next Tuesday—People are Giving Enterprise Cordial Support

Hon. Moses E. Clapp, for the past 16 years United States Senator from Minnesota, who was born and reared in a great stock raising country, has accepted an invitation to come to Wilmington next Tuesday and deliver an address at the organization meeting of the stockholders of the proposed packing house of this city. The organization meeting has been called to be held at 11 o'clock and it is probable that Senator Clapp will speak before the election of stockholders and directors is taken up.

Senator Clapp is now spending some time in the Third Congressional district campaigning in behalf of Maj. G. E. Butler, Republican nominee for Congress. However, his coming to Wilmington upon invitation of those in charge of the packing house proposition is not of a political nature. Prior to his election to the United States Senate, Senator Clapp had had a long and distinguished public career, having served for three terms as attorney general of the state of Minnesota and having filled other public offices.

The people of Clinton are greatly interested in establishing a packing house in Wilmington, according to Messrs. John W. Greer and W. W. Love who made addresses at a meeting held at that place on Thursday of this week. There was a liberal response, a number taking stock and others pledging their support.

Lumberton business men were much impressed with the explanation made by Messrs. Greer and Love of the need for a packing house in this city, according to Thursday's Robesonian, and several subscribed for stock in the enterprise. The Wilmington men attended a meeting held at that place Tuesday of this week, of which the Robesonian has the following account:

"Lumberton business men who heard Tuesday Messrs. John W. Greer, of Moultrie, Ga., and W. W. Love, of Wilmington, explain the advantages this section would reap from the establishment of a packing house in Wilmington were very much impressed with the sound business sense behind the idea and several subscribed for stock. Messrs. Greer and Love went from Lumberton to Fairmont and presented the matters to business men of that town Tuesday afternoon.

"A meeting of business men was held in the commissioners' room at the court house Tuesday morning to hear Mr. Greer, who is helping to raise stock for the proposed packing house in Wilmington, and Mr. Love, a wholesale grocer of Wilmington, is chairman of the committee that is raising the stock. The room was about half full of business men who had been reached by phone and personal invitation, and the county commissioners, who were here to hold a special meeting, also were present.

"Mr. Greer talked smoothly, easily, convincingly about the packing house business and why business men and farmers of Lumberton and Robeson county should be interested in the venture. Listening to Mr. Greer, you can just fairly see Robeson and other counties in this section rolling in wealth in a few years if the people of these counties get behind the Wilmington packing house with their support and go to raising hogs and cattle. And the beauty about the picture he paints is that he can prove it by what has happened in other places. Moultrie, Gr., from which place Mr. Greer hails, is in a section which formerly was an all-cotton section. The farmers were debt-ridden and poor, with no prospect of ever being able to pay off the mortgages. A packing house was started there with fear and trembling because it was an experiment to try it out in a country where the farmers were wedded to cotton. The results were astonishing, even though it was known that the packing house business is the dividend-payingest business that was ever started, and the greatest prosperity promoter. In the Manufacturers Record 20 months after this house was started was told a marvelous story of general prosperity in all that section. Farmers were paying off mortgages, the women were dressing better, more comfort were found in farm homes, merchants were doing almost double the business they did before the packing house came, and the country was fast getting on a cash basis.

"Mr. Greer told about this and more. He declared that Robeson is very much the same kind of country and predicted such prosperity as will never be known under the all-cotton plan would follow the establishment of a packing house in Wilmington. It would do more to bring about diversification than anything else. Everything that can be grown on the farm can be turned into money. It furnishes a market for everything. A packing house furnishes a clearing house for the farm. Farmers can make more money on hogs and cattle than in any other way. Farmers of this section can beat the West raising meat because they have 25 to 30 different feeds, whereas the farmers of the West have only five or six; and the Western farmer has more expense in housing and caring for his hogs and cattle. Yet North Carolina buys $35,000,000 worth of meat yearly from the West, and the South buys $350,000,000 worth. They should be selling meat instead of buying.

"When the packing house is established in Wilmington it will furnish a market right at their doors for all the hogs and cattle the farmers of Robeson and other counties in this section can raise. Mr. Love explained that it was desired to make this a co-operative affair, hence no one was being asked to take much stock but effort was being made to get all the business men and farmers of this entire section to take stock. It was explained that fewer packing houses have failed than any other business, that they have made more millionaires than any other business, that during the past 16 years the average dividends declared by packing houses have been around 30 per cent.

"It is proposed to get the Wilmington plant in operation in about eight months. The plant is to cost $75,000 and will have a capacity of 200 hogs and 30 cattle daily."

TO INVESTIGATE INSECTS

Bureau of Entomology Will Send Expert to Wilmington to Look Into Killing of Trees.

An expert will be sent by the Bureau of Entomology at Washington to Wilmington and other Southern cities the latter part of this month to make a thorough investigation of the oaks that are affected by root and stem boring insects, according to a letter forwarded to the Chamber of Commerce here by Senator F. M. Simmons from Mr. W. D. Hunter, acting chief of the bureau.

The local Chamber of Commerce several weeks ago sent a request to Senator Simmons asking that some steps be taken towards making an investigation as to the cause of many of the beautiful oaks here being killed or seriously damaged by the boring insects and the letter to Senator Simmons is in response to a request by him that the matter be looked into.

Following is a copy of a letter forwarded by Senator Simmons from the acting chief of the Bureau of Entomology of the United States Department of Agriculture:

"Hon. F. McL. Simmons,
"United States Senate.

"Dear Sir: With reference to the correspondence about insect damage to the oaks at Wilmington, North Carolina, and the request of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce for an expert of the Department to examine the trees, the matter has been referred to the Chief of the Branch of Forest and Shade Tree Insects who advises me that in many other localities of the South Atlantic and Gulf States the oaks are affected by root and stem boring insects which, owing to other pressing forest and shade tree problems which are claiming the attention of the specialists and experts, we have not had an opportunity to thoroughly investigate. It has been planned, however, to visit a number of localities, including Wilmington, just as soon as matters can be arranged so that our representative can devote the necessary time to make a thorough investigation of the trouble at as many localities as possible during one trip.

"Enough is known about the insects that are responsible for the trouble to assure the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce that there would be no advantage to it from a special trip and investigations now, over that at a late date. In fact it will be much better for all concerned and much more economical to visit Wilmington in connection with the general investigatons of the subject. Therefore, the plan is to make the trip during the last part of this month and the first part of next.

"Trusting that you will realize the importance of economy in connection with the cost of our field trips.

"Very truly yours,
"W. D. HUNTER.
"Acting Chief of Bureau."

REPORT IS UNFAVORABLE

War Department Does Not Favor Improvement at Carolina Beach Pier.

Capt. C. S. Ridley, United States district engineer, has announced that the proposed improvement of the channel leading into Carolina Beach pier on the lower Cape Fear river is not considered favorably for the reason that the existing or prospective commerce is small, that the benefits to be derived from any work done by the general government would be largely of a private nature, and that any dredged channel would be costly to maintain compared with the benefits.

Captain Ridley announces that all interested parties have the privilege of an appeal from this conclusion to the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, of Washington, D. C.

"Sandbagged" at Hilton Bridge.

Chadbourn Herald: "Mr. T. E. Bardin is wearing a black eye as a result of being sandbagged as he was returning Monday on the excursion from Wilmington by a crowd of negroes as the train passed under the first overhead bridge leaving out of the city. Another man was struck by flying debris hurled through the car windows. This seems to be a "hang out" place for a gang of toughs as this is not the first time such a thing has occurred. If the Wilmington and railroad authorities allow such things to continue we advise all passengers to carry their shot guns with them and not fail to use them on such occasions."

NO MORE REVENUE STAMPS

Letter From Deputy Collector London Says That New Bill Repeals Stamp Act of 1915.

That the war revenue stamp is a thing of the past, and that henceforth telegrams, commercial papers, cosmetics, etc., will appear with a clean face, is confirmed by a letter received yesterday by Mr. W. M. Cumming from Mr. H. M. London, deputy collector in charge of internal revenue, at Raleigh. Mr. London's letter says:

"Effective midnight September 8th, 1916, the law requiring revenue stamps on notes, deeds, conveyances, bills of lading, etc., was repealed. All documents made prior to that time, however, on which stamps were required, should be properly stamped."

The letter received by Mr. Cumming was confirmed by a telegram received yesterday afternoon by Register of Deeds John Haar from Collector J. W. Bailey, of Raleigh, who stated that the law was repealed effective September 8th. This telegram was sent in response to one from Mr. Haar asking whether or not stamps are required on deeds.

Announcement of the repeal of this act was made to the larger business houses on September 8, immediately following the passing of the Emergency Revenue bill by Congress, just before its adjournment. Following close on the heels of this, however, came the announcement from Senator Simmons, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, that the passing of the new bill, in no way effected the War Stamp Act of December, 1914, and that revenue stamps would be required until the expiration of the time limit of the Stamp act, which is December, 1916.

These tidings, coming as they did, just when the legal and commercial houses were congratulating themselves that they were through with the troublesome government stamps, caused considerable confusion. They had received orders from the heads of the various enterprises to discontinue the sale of stamps, and were now confronted by this later announcement that the stamps were still required.

In view of the statement by Senator Simmons, the belief that the stamp act had automatically been repealed by the passing of the emergency bill was probably due to the press reports as to the new bill, that there had been eliminated from the new bill all taxes on bonds, debentures, certificates, futures, stock transfers, conveyances of land, mortgages, steamship tickets, and other stamp taxes, which will now expire by limitation on Decemebr 31.

Mr. Cumming, who is a prominent real estate man, took the matter up with the officials of the revenue department, and on September 13 wrote to Mr. London for the correct interpretation of the bill. Mr. London's reply relieves all doubt, and there is great rejoicing in commercial and professional circles here.

GOING TO WASHINGTON

Miss Margaret Peirce to Open School for Children in Capital City.

Many friends in Wilmington and elsewhere will be interested to learn that Miss Margaret Peirce, who conducted during the past year with much success a school for little children in Wilmington, is transferring her training school to Washington, D. C., where she has been urged to go with a guarantee of all expenses and the promise of support of the leading club women and mothers among the official circles.

They are working up a class of ten representative children from different sections of the city and also a class of teachers to take the training, so that by January there may be a number of branch schools, all of them under the supervision of Miss Peirce, who has spent the summer among the great educational leaders in New York. She attended the meeting of the National Educational association and also took observation work at Columbia University.

Miss Peirce says the demand for up-to-date, progressive teachers for the four-year-old is greater than the supply and she believes that group work of ten with ample time for the languages and motional methods is the coming need. The public kindergarten of Washington, she states, are overcrowded and the bright child is stifled among the masses, so that mothers who can afford it are looking to the preservation of their children's individual talents, and even philanthropists are making provision for the alert child as well as the defective ones.

Miss Peirce expects to open her school the second week in October. In the meantime she is making provision for continuing her class of ten in Wilmington in which she desires the open air feature to have considerable prominence along with the other features. Had she remained in the city, she had expected to have two groups of ten and to enlarge her facilities. The children in her school last year showed remarkable possibilities, even in the initial year, and Miss Peirce is much interested in the continuance of the work that has been started in Wilmington.

CUTTING AFFRAY IN CAFE

Mr. Nick Jordan Alleges That He Was Seriously Injured in Star Cafe Early Yesterday Morning.

As a result of an affray in the Star Cafe, on North Front street, about 4 o'clock yesterday morning, Mr. Nick Jordan, a young Greek, employed at the cafe, is in the James Walker Memorial Hospital suffering from wounds in the hands and forehead, inflicted with a knife and brass knuckles, while Mr. A. D. Murphy, a street railway trainman, and Mr. W. D. Scott, an A. C. L. brakeman, are at liberty on bond, charged with an assault.

The trouble began, it is alleged, when Murphy and Scott had some words with Jordan over the payment of a lunch check. It seems that the two railroad men went into the cafe and ordered a lunch. After eating it, and paying for it, it is alleged that Mr. Jordan accused them of "short changing" him, and demanded more money than had been paid him. Scott and Murphy insisted that they had given him the proper amount ,but Mr. Jordan was equally insistent in claiming that they had not.

After wrangling over the matter for a few minutes, it is alleged that one of the men, said to have been Murphy, struck the Greek between the eyes with a pair of brass knuckles, and cut him on the hands. Policeman J. F. Jordan was attracted to the scene, and after summoning an ambulance to convey Jordan to the hospital, carried Murphy and Scott to police headquarters, where they remained until shortly after daylight, when were released on bond.

As Jordan was unable to attend court yesterday morning, the hearing was set for Tuesday. The Greek's wounds, while painful, are not considered to be very serious, and it is thought that he will have sufficiently recovered by Tuesday morning to attend trial. Jordan claims that his assailants were drinking.

TINY BICYCLE THIEF FALLS INTO CLUTCHES OF THE LAW

Wee Negro of Nine Summers Haled Into Court.

While a rat trap is not a necessary adjunct to a police department, there are times when such an instrument or utensil could be used to advantage. Such an instance accurred in the local department of public safety yesterday afternoon, when the dragnet of the law ensnared in its meshes a "wee bit naygur," as the Scotch would express it.

This tiny mite of ebony colored humanity, who gave his name as Morgan Spencer, was locked up on a charge of borrowing a bicycle from Mr. William Shanahan, of the Mission Pharmacy, and forgetting all about returning it. He was just about the size of the pickanninies that the caricaturists on the comic sheets use when they desire to depict tempting morsels of alligator bait, and while he modestly admitted that he had reached the ripe age of nine years, and that he had a prison record, the most casual observer would never have given him credit for being over six.

It seems that Thursday night about 10 o'clock Mr. Shanahan's wheel disappeared from the front of the store, where he was accustomed to leave it while it was not in use. About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Robert Hall a white boy employed at the pharmacy, was walking along Market street, and met Morgan riding the missing machine. He stopped him and asked where he came into possession of the bicycle. Morgan replied that he had bought it, and offered to lead Mr. Hall to the boy whom he alleged had sold it to him for $2.

Morgan dismounted and started, but when he had gone a little way he suddenly threw the bicycle down, and made a break for liberty. But unfortunately for this little man his 18-inch legs were not equal to the task, he stumped his toe on a cobble stone and fell. Before he could regain his footing his pursuers had overhauled him and led him to the city hall, where he was turned over to Policeman J. J. Moore.

When questioned at headquarters, Morgan's brain worked with the rapidity of a machine gun, but sad to relate it worked a different way every time. After hearing his story, Sergeant Smith turned the wheel over to Mr. Hall, with instructions to produce it as "exhibit A" at the Recorder's Court this morning. Morgan was then taken and placed in the gloomy recesses of one of the cells, the cracks of which had been clinked with all sorts of material to keep the Lilliputian stranger from escaping. As an extra precaution, the keyhole was chugged with a bit of putty. Later in the afternoon, however, Morgan was recognized in the custody of his father, until 10 o'clock this morning.

This young man was one of the gang that was tried in Superior Court for breaking into a house recently, and was only released from jail a few days ago. He was paroled from court on the understanding that he was to keep off the streets after 8 p. m.

THE SINS OF WOMEN

Evangelist Huggins Addresses Women Only at Wrightsboro.

Taking for his subject "The Sins of Women," founded on Solomon 4:7, Evangelist W. W. Huggins, preached a stirring sermon at the Wrightsboro Baptist church yesterday afternoon. The service was for women only, and a large crowd heard the discourse.

Among the different sins touched on in the course of his remarks, were the sins of ignorance, mock modesty, double standard, immodest dressing, joy riding, illicit love and dancing, divorce, and the sins against motherhood. In all these the evangelist branded in burning words the women who are permitting themselves to fall victims to their wiles.

COMMEND PRESIDENT RIDDICK

Members of the alumni of the A. & M. college in New Hanover were much interested in the press reports of the hazing of Mr. George W. Tiencken, son of Mr. M. G. Tiencken, and commended in the highest terms the prompt action of President W. C. Riddick in having the warrants sworn out. Local alumni members were especially interested in the report that the five young men implicated in the hazing episode were not students of the institution but were simply visitors. However, the Star's Raleigh correspondent, in last night's dispatches, says they were students.

State Senator W. B. Cooper, a member of the board of trustees of the college, said yesterday that he was sure the board would stand squarely behind President Riddick. Senator Cooper sent a telegram to Dr. Riddick commending his action. Approval of the course pursued by the college authorities was also expressed by Mr. J. L. Becton, president of the New Hanover alumni association of the college, and by Mr. H. E. Bonitz, a former president of the association.

Mr. Henry Tiencken, a brother of Mr. George W. Tiencken, received a telegram yesterday from the latter, stating that he had been tied down and thoroughly drenched, but that he had suffered no ill effects from the treatment.

SECOND CASE IS REPORTED.

Child of Mrs. E. C. Manning Infected With Infantile Paralysis.

The second case of infantile paralysis for Wilmington this season was reported to the Health Department yesterday, this being the child of Mrs. E. C. Manning, No. 223 South Front street. The other case was reported several weeks ago, being in Delgado, and so far as can be learned there has been no contagion by contact.

The family in which the last case has occurred came to Wilmington from Norfolk about six weeks ago, but so far as the health officials can find there has been no contact either in this city or in Norfolk.

All necessary precautions have been taken by the Health Depatrment and no epidemic is expected, especially as the period for cool weather is rapidly approaching and experts are agreed that cold weather is one of the most effectual means of stopping the spread of the disease. It is not unusual for any city as large as Wilmington to have a few cases of the disease.

NEGROES ARRESTED

PoliceMake Two Captures Late Last Night.

Jim Smith, colored, was arrested late last night by Policemen R. J. Thomas and G. W. Bullard, charged with assault on a negro woman. He will face trial this morning. Herbert Wright, a 12-year-old negro boy, was also caught in the meshes of the law, charged with being implicated in the theft of the bicycle from Mr. William Shanahan at the Mission Pharmacy Thursday night. Herbert was found by Policemen W. W. Lewis and J. O. Bullard at his home at Tenth and Princess.

WILL CLEAR THIS MORNING

British Steamer Mayaro Will Move From the Harbor With Coming of the Flood Tide.

After a stay of 36 hours in port, the British passenger and freight steamer Mayaro will steam from the Wilmington harbor with the flood tide this morning. The addition of 200 tons of coal to her cargo has righted the vessel, and once again seaworthy, she awaits only the coming of the tide to be on her way to New York.

The Mayaro limped into the Wilmington harbor at noon Thursday careening toward the water on port side, and her cargo shifted and deranged as a result of an encounter with a northeast gale off the Carolina coast. It was at first decided to shift the cargo back and endeavor to right her in that manner, but after a survey of the vessel by Mr. J. McKenzie, of New York, agent of the owners, Port Warden W. N. Harriss and Harbor Master E. D. Williams, together with Capt. Drysdale, her commander, it was decided that the addition of coal would be an easier and more practicable plan.

The steamer righted herself yesterday, and was ready to proceed, but owing to the fact that she was drawing 26 feet of water when she entered the harbor, it was found necessary to wait for the tide.

Not one of the 51 passengers carried by the Mayaro were allowed to come ashore, owing to the fact that there is no immigration office in Wilmington. A lot of mail, being carried from Trinidad and Grenada to New York, was removed, however, and carried to its destination by rail.

NINETEEN PERSONS BURNED

At Least Six Seriously Injured in Explosion of Powder.

Wilmington, Del., Sept. 15.—Nineteen powder workers were burned, at least six of them seriously, by the explosion of several thousand pounds of smokeless powder at the plant of the Dupont Powder Company, at Carney's Point, N. J., tonight.

Th eexplosion originated in a blending tower and while the company has not established the cause ,the opinion is advanced that a piece of metal may have found its way into the powder which was being worked through the tower.

KELLUM ELECTED MEMBER

Former Representative to Legislature Succeeds District Attorney Carr on Board of Education.

Woodus Kellum, Esq., who represented New Hanover for two terms in the lower house of the North Carolina General Assembly and a well known Wilmington attorney, was elected yesterday afternoon as a member of the Board of Education to succeed District Attorney J. O. Carr, who ceased automatically to be a member of the board upon taking the oath for the office he now holds.

The election of Mr. Kellum took place at a special meeting called for this purpose which was held at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. This meeting followed conferences earlier in the day with L. Clayton Grant, Esq., Democratic nominee fo rthe next Legislature, and while no statements were made either by Mr. Grant or by the present members of the Board of Educatic nominee for the next Legislabe mutually agreeable and it is expected that Mr. Kellum will be named by Mr. Grant when the Legislature meets to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Carr.

At the next meeting of the Board of Education which will probably be in October, a chairman will be elected to succeed Mr. Carr, who served in that capacity during his entire term of six years. In the meantime Mr. J. G. L. Gieschen will serve as acting chairman of the board.

Mr. Kellum, the new member of the board, is a native of Onslow county, but has lived in Wilmington for the past 16 years. He has practiced law with much success for the past ten years. Since coming to the bar he has always manifested much interest in educational affairs. His many friends feel that the board has been fortunate in securing his services.

FOURTH GREEK ARMY CORPS TO BE TAKEN TO GERMANY

Frankfurter Zeitung Estimates the Total Strength at 25,000 Men.

Amsterdam, Sept. 15, (via London, Sept. 15).—The Frankfurter Zeitung estimates the strength of the fourth Greek army corps, which is to be transported to Germany, at 25,000 men. The newspaper rejoices that the Entente Allies are deprived of the use of the troops, which they might gain if Greece came into the war on their side.

Berlin, Sept. 15, (by wireless).—Official announcement was made in Berlin yesterday on the plan to transport to Germany Greek troops stationed at Kavala at the time of the Bulgarian occupation of eastern Macedonia.

The announcement said the troops, cut off from communication with Athens by the Entente forces, were suffering from disease and lack of food and that they would be taken to Germany as Neutrals. Athens dispatches said 1,500 Greek soldiers had been removed from Kavala on warships of the Allies.

SLIGHT LOSS IN COTTON

Market Nervous and Irregular, But Rallies Followed an Early Decline. Spot at 15.60.

New York, Sept. 15.—The cotton market was nervous and irregular today, but rallies followed an early decline and the close was steady at net loss of 4 to 7 points. December contracts advanced from 15.56 to 15.69 and closed at 15.64.

The market opened steady at a decline of 6 to 10 points in response to lower Liverpool cables and reports that one of the more prominent crop experts with English connections estimated this year's yield at 13,000,000 bales, excluding linters, or about a million bales above the official indication published at the end of last month. Selling was held in check to some extent by nervousness over lower temperatures in the southwest, although the official forecast was for warmer weather tomorrow and there were more rallies right after the opening. Offerings seemed to increase on early bulges, however, and the market gradually worked off until active months were about 11 to 13 points under last night's closing figures, with October selling at 15.39 and January at 15.63. At this level, realising was less in evidence and the market turned firmer in the late trading. October rallied to 15.48 and January to 15.75 or back to about last night's finals, and the close was within 4 or 5 points of the best.

WEEK'S REVIEW IN COTTON

New York, Sept. 15.—The cotton market has shown continued activity during the past week. The decline which started from 16.47 for December shortly after the publication of the end-August condition and crop figures seemed to culminate at 14.98 for that delivery on Monday. The technical position had evidently strengthened during the progress of the selling movement while the reaction of approximately 17.50 per bale was sufficient to bring in an increased trade demand as well as realizing by recent sellers.

There were sharp rallies during the middle of the week, December contracts sold up to 15.78 during Thursday's trading, or about $4 per bale above the low level of Monday morning. Offerings increased as prices approached the 16c level, however, owing to apprehensions of freer Southern selling and the market has since been nervous and unsettled with December selling off to 15.56 during today's trading and closing tonight at 15.64.

This rally from the recent low level was promoted by the census report showing an unexpectedly heavy domestic mill consumption for August. A crop estimate of 12,690,000 bales, including linters, from a New Orleans authority was also a factor on the advance, but the feature mainly emphasized by buyers was the tendency of Southern offerings to diminish rather than increase below 15 cents in the interior. Privats cables reported prospects for a better Manchester business with India and domestic spinners are reported to have bought freely in the local contract market to fix prices.

STOCKS CONTINUE ACTIVE

Market, However, Shows Absence of Wild and Spectacular Fluctuations of Previous Day.

New York, Sept. 15.—In today's market there was an absence of the wild and spectacular fluctuations of yesterday. The forward movement in high-grade investment-paying issues was a feature. Trading was once more on a gigantic scale, the total turnover of 1,270,000 shares making the ninth consecutive full session in which dealings have run into seven figures.

There were no signs at the outset of irregularity and liquidation but from time to time the more speculative shares manifested some susceptibility to pressure. Today's final prices of leading rails and industrials were higher than yesterday's. Almost two score issues of various descriptions touched levels well over any of the year and some, notably Union Pacific, which made an extreme gain of 3 1-2 points to 146 1-2 were at their maximum prices since the war. Other potential leaders which rose 1 to almost 3 points included Southern Pacific, Great Northern and Northern Pacific, Atchison and New York Central.

Many industrials and specialties made gains of 2 to 5 points, and Driggs Seabury, one of the newly listed munitions, was conspicuous for its advance of almost twenty points to 111 3-4. United States Steel repeated its high record of 107 and affiliated shares, although irregular at times, were strong in the main. The bond market was firm, total sales, par value $3,170,000.

United States bonds unchanged on call.

DUN'S BUSINESS REVIEW

Further Increase in Industrial and Commercial Activity.

New York, Sept. 5.—Dun's Review tomorrow will say:

"In nearly all important industrial and mercantile lines the trend is toward a further increase in activity and is exceptionally marked in some directions. Manufacturing plants are being operated to their capacity, the shortage in the supply of labor being practically the only deterrent to additional expansion.

"The demand for fall merchandise is encouragingly brisk and the general business sentiment is optimistic. In the central states the movement of commodities continues well sustained and reflects prosperous conditions. In the South the inquiry for staple goods is increasingly active, while western commercial centers report substantial increases in business over last year. On the Pacific coast the favorable crop prospects in that region, together with the generally high prices for agricultural products, are indicative of still further progress. Retail trade drags at some points owing to labor controversies but this condition is regarded as temporary and demand for fall merchandise as a whole is maintained in volume that reflects an expanding purchasing power on the part of the people generally.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

Week-End Liquidation Causes Loss of 10 to 13 Points.

New Orleans, Sept. 15.—Cotton felt the weight of week-end liquidation today together with some short selling, the appearance of large hedging operations and reports of large spots in the western belt. Around the opening there was a decline of 8 to 10 points. This was followed by a recovery to about the level of yesterday's close because of the estimate on consumption by a London authority of 15,000,000 bales. The steady tone was re-placed by easiness, however, owing to the crop estimate from the same source of about 14,000,000, commercial figures and at noon the trading months were 9 to 12 points down, net. In the early afternoon the market was at its lowest, a net loss of 10 to 13 points. Towards the close it steadied and the net change for the session was a loss of 3 to 6 points. The cold weather in the western belt and the hot weather in the eastern belt offset the effect of poor cables to some extent.

Closing bids: October 15.12; December, 15.15; January, 15.49; March, 15.69; May, 15.89.

Spit quiet and unchanged. Sales on the spot 205 bales; to arrive 14.50; middling, 13.13.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Bears in Wheat Handicapped by Reports of Drouth in Argentina.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Serious drought reports from Argentina tended today to handicap the bears in wheat. Corn finished 1¼ to 1⅝ to 1¾ up, and oats with a gain of ⅛ to ⅜@⅝c. In provisions the outcome varied from 5c decline to a rise of 27c.

Grain and Provisions closed:

Wheat	Dec. 1.49¼	May	1.50
Corn	Dec. .72¼	May	.75⅛
Oats	Dec. .47⅝	May	.50⅝
Pork	Oct. 26.75	Jan.	22.87
Lard	Oct 14.42	Jan.	13.12
Ribs	Oct. 14.37	Jan.	12.75

Cash Grain:

Wheat—No. 2 red 1.49⅞ to 1.51¾; No. 3 red 1.45 to 1.49; No. 2 hard 1.52¼; No. 3 hard 1.51.

Corn—No. 2 yellow 85¾ to 86¼; No. 4 yellow 81; No. 4 white 81 to 83.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

POLICE COURT TO TRY FIVE ALLEGED HAZERS

George Tiencken, of Wilmington, Not Their Only Victim

Warsaw Station Matter Settled—New Scale of Legal Advertising Rates Proposed—Wilmington Corporation Chartered.

(Special Star Correspondence).

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 15.—Joe Chamberlain, George Monk, Drewry Sale, Maurey Martin and Kennith Parker, A. & M. students, most of them living in town, are to answer in the city police court for using roughly George Tiencken, of Wilmington, and other students last Sunday night when they paid a visit to the college dormitories. It is the first hazing incident of the term and the prosecution hopes to effectually nip such practices for the year.

They hazed several of the freshmen without especially injuring either of them, but when they passed out of the dormitory a bucket of water was poured on them from an upper window and they threw rocks that crashed through the windows and brought the officers of the day to the scene, resulting in their recognition and subsequent arrest.

The hearing in the police court will take places next Tuesday, September 19 before Judge Harris.

Warsaw Station Matter.

Chairman E. L. Travis and Secretary A. J. Maxwell, of the Corporation Commission, spent yesterday in Warsaw and settled the differences between citizens and the Atlantic Coast Line railway as to the union passenger station that is to be erected there at once about one-half mile north of the old station and will serve the Coast Line, the Kenansville road and the Clinton branch line controlled by the Coast Line. Citizens were insisting that the new station front south toward the town, but this was found impractical on account of the approach that the trains on the Kenansville road must have to the station. The new building is to be a combination building for freight and passengers.

Meredith College and Peace Institute, popular schools for young women here, have opened auspiciously this week for the fall term, both with new presidents in charge, Dr. Charles E. Brewer at the head of Meredith, succeeding Dr. Vann, and Miss Mary O. Graham succeeding Dr. Ramsey at Peace. Both have full enrollments. St. Mary's School will not open until next week.

Legal Advertising.

State Legislative Librarian W. S. Wilson is to draw up for the newspaper organizations of the State a bill to be put through the next Legislature making uniform and more equitable the law regulating the charges that are prescribed for legal advertisements. Action to this effect was taken in a joint meeting just held here by the legislative committees of the North Carolina Press Association and the Association of Afternoon Newspapers of the State. Commissioner of Labor and Printing M. L. Shipman was made chairman of the joint committee and J. L. Horne, Jr., Rocky Mount, of the Association of Afternoon Newspaper men, was made secretary. The proposed scope of the law was discussed very fully and Legislative Librarian Wilson was given the general outline as to provisions for the tentative bill he is to draw.

New Wilmington Corporation.

A charter was issued today for the DeLuca & Holton Logging Co., of Wilmington, capital $100,000 authorized and $6,000 subscribed by L. DeLuca, Wilmington; F. DeLuca, Bowden, and J. F. Holton, Wallace. The company will do a general logging business and develop timber lands, including the construction of logging roads.

A requisition on the governor of Virginia was issued today for E. C. Orpe, who is wanted in Sanford for the embezzlement of $125 from the Carter Furniture Co., of that place. Orpe is now under arrest in Norfolk, Va.

GERMAN COMMISSARY DEMANDS LOAN OF ONE BILLION FRANCS

All Directors of the Belgian Bank are Threatened With Arrest.

Havre, Sept. 15.—The Belgian minister of finance, Alois Von De Vivre, has issued the following note:

"According to news from authorized sources the German authorities are persuing against the Belgian population a policy of spoliation even graver than that already denounced by the Belgian minister of finance after the first reports in the Dutch press. The Belgian National bank is not the only national bank they desire to reach.

"The German commissary at Brussels demands that a loan be made to him, not of 750,000,000 francs, as first announced, but of one billion francs, of which three-fifths is to be furnished by the Belgian National Bank and two-fifths by other hands.

"All the directors of the Belgian National Bank are threatened with arrest. M. Carlier, one of the directors, already has been arrested and taken to Aix La Chapelle."

SENT BACK TO JAIL.

Bail in Aggregate Sum of $935,000 Demanded of 187 I. W. W's.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 15.—Bail in the aggregate sum of $935,000 was demanded of 187 Industrial Workers of the World who were given hearings today for participation in the forbidden meeting raided in Old Forge yesterday and which resulted in 267 arrests by Sheriff Philips, a dozen deputies and 20 state troopers.

Each defendant was also fined $10 for disorderly conduct. None gave bonds or paid the fines and all went back to the county jail.

PISTOL LOST 54 YEARS RETURNED TO OWNER

Son of Bladen Veteran Sends It to Veteran in New York State

Bladenboro, N. C., Sept. 15.—After remaining for considerably more than 50 years in the hands of a Bladen county Confederate veteran and his son, a pistol presented by admiring friends to a young man of New York state when he enlisted in the Federal army at the beginning of the Civil War, and lost by him on one of the battlefields of Virginia, has just found its way back into the now palsied hands of its former owner, aged and infirm, waiting at his home in Lockport, N. Y., for the final taps to sound.

Newspaper publicity played a conspicuous part in bringing together again, after a lapse of half a century, the long lost and highly treasured pistol and its proud possessor. These fifty years have seen both the Federal and the Confederate soldiers of the early sixties change from the buoyant, daring and youthful warriors to enfeebled and silver-haired veterans, and the Southern soldier has already passed over the River, leaving the relic in the hands of another generation.

Mr. A. R. Edwards, of Richardson, Bladen county, whose father picked up the pistol by the side of a dead Federal soldier on the battlefield of Cedar Run, or Cedar Mountain, Virginia, sent the relic a few days ago to Mr. Lyman Field, Jr., of Lockport, N. Y., to be delivered by him to his aged father, Mr. L. Field, Sr., who lost it in 1961 or 1862. From that time until his death the pistol was in the possession of the elder Mr. Edwards, the Confederate soldier who picked it up following that battle.

Doubtless the pistol would never have been restored to its Yankee owner but for the fact that it bore his name, "L. Field, Lockport, N. Y.," engraved on the butt. It the latter part of August, last, Mr. A. R. Edwards conceived the idea of making inquiry through the Lockport press for the owner of the long lost article. So he wrote this communication and sent it to the Union Sun & Journal, which paper published it:

"I have a Colt pistol picked up on a battlefield in Virginia, Cedar Run, I think, by my father, first lieutenant, Company B, Eighteenth North Carolina Regiment, in 1861 or 1862, that has the name of 'L. Field, Lockport, N. Y.,' engraved on the butt. As a matter of curiosity I am writing to know is this man or any of his descendants still living."

This letter was written August 28, 1916. A few days ago Mr. Edwards received from Mr. Lyman Field, Jr., the following letter, dated Lockport, N. Y., Sept. 2:

"I, being the son of the man who was the owner of the pistol referred to in the enclosed clipping, take pleasure in informing you that father is alive, though well along in years, having passed his 85th birthday. He is in very poor health at present, having had a stroke of paralysis, so that he is unable to write you himself.

"The pistol was presented to him by his shop mates at the time of his enlistment in the 28th New York Volunteers and was prized for that reason. The story of its loss as father tells it is as follows:

"At the time of the Cedar Run, or Cedar Mountain, battle, he was detailed on detached duties, at Culpepper, and had loaned the pistol to a man named Hankie. Well, Hankie went into the action and was taken prisoner and was shortly after killed by a stray shot, so reported by some of his comrades. Whatever the cause, he never returned.

"I presume it is only natural that I should desire to become the possessor of that pistol and would be pleased if we could make some arrangement to that end. Thanking you very much for the interest you have taken in the matter, I am, Yours respectfully, etc."

Upon receipt of this letter, Mr. Edwards sent the pistol by prepaid express to the younger Mr. Field, wrapped in the old yellow holster in which his father told him repeatedly before his death he found it by the side of a dead Yankee after the battle of Cedar Run. The belt was too rotten and moth eaten to be sent.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 15.—H. F. Seawell and J. J. Jenkins, the latter the Republican nominee for Congress in this district against Congressman Pou, held a big "speaking" tonight in the county court house under the auspices of the Wake county Republican executive committee. There were probably three hundred voters out, numbers of them being local Democrats.

The issues were discussed, both national and state, and there was the usual stress on the Board of Internal Improvement's report on the State Treasury.
